THE DICKENS CRIER

Hear ye, hear ye, welcome to The Dickens Crier!

This is the last installment of weekly announcements regarding the Dickens Victorian Village, a project supported by Cambridge Main Street that runs through Jan. 15, 2007, in downtown Cambridge.

Invite Your Families Downtown

We'd like to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays!

This is a perfect time of year to share your spirit with your families and friends, just as Bob Cratchit and Scrooge eventually managed to do.

If you have guests in Cambridge over the holidays, we invite you to consider bringing them downtown!

If you haven't yet seen the Dickens Victorian Village yourself, this would be a perfect opportunity for a breath of fresh air and holiday enjoyment.

If you've already seen the display, then you know how much your family and friends will appreciate being shown this unique public work of art!

The Dickens Victorian Village will be on display on Wheeling Avenue through Jan. 15, 2007.

The tour buses have come and gone, with much pride shown from our community. Let's take the opportunity to continue sharing that pride with our local and visiting friends and families as the holidays continue!

Consider making it an annual tradition to stroll downtown on Christmas Day, or any day of the holidays. Create memories to last a lifetime.

As Tiny Tim said, "God bless us, everyone!"

Coming Up Next

This is the final installment of the Dickens Crier for the season. Thanks for reading! And thanks to all the community volunteers and sponsorship support that helped make this project possible!

Watch this space next week for the first of weekly columns by Debbie Robinson, director of the Cambridge/Guernsey County Visitors & Convention Bureau. She will continue to let you know about the wonderful happenings affecting tourism in Cambridge and Guernsey County.
